MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD FOR CADET BAKER '74
President Hibben Pays Glowing Tribute to Memory of Princeton Athlete.

REPRESENTATIVES OF ARMY AND J. F. MORGAN ATTEND
Trinity Church Filled With Undergraduates and Friends Gathered To Honor Him.

“The spirit of this place was incarnate in him, the spirit of Nearly every honor, of duty, of fair play, and of the clean game.” In these words presented Hibben expressed a universal feeling at the service in memory of Captain Robert Avery Hare, cadet class of 1924, whose death occurred last Saturday in a plane crash when returning from leave to his home. Hibben was in company with a large number of friends who came from out-of-town to honor the memory of a cadet whose type of leadership was an example to all. The funeral speeches which were extremely impressive, were conducted in part by three of his relatives, Dr. A. B. Baker ’66, the Rector Emeritus of Trinity Church, the Reverend William Ogburn Baker ’59, Reid ’59, and Mr. J. W. Hunter, the Rector of Trinity Church, who delivered the final prayers, while the benedictions were pronounced by the Reverend Paul Matthews, Bishop of New Jersey.

The church was closed with the sounding of the “Last Post” by buglers, J. W. Rohan and C. W. Burns, who accompanied the party of officers who came for the service from the Harvard Flying Field. Among the visitors was Major Riddle Y. Y., who was Captain Baker’s first flight commander when he was the instructor at Harvard. In the foreground was John Blakenship ’66, Captain’s Lander, Moore, and Helden, and Lieutenants Blackham ’39, Trotter, Wav and Wadsworth, in his overcoat.

A. B. CUTTING ADDRESSES TRIANGLE CLUB MEETING
Large Number of Members Interested in Tentative Plans at Murray-Dodge.

Last evening there was a meeting at Murray-Dodge of all the men interested in the Triangle Club. A. B. Cutting, President of the club, explained the Tentative plans for the season, and announced that within a week or ten days calls would be made for candidates to be recommended and that the competitions would begin soon for various other positions. The meeting adjourned for the upstairs hall at Murray-Dodge.

WRESTLING TEAM TO MEET BOYS’ CLUB OF NEW YORK
Contest To Be Held Saturday In Gym—Novice Meet Held Yesterday.

This Saturday the University wrestling team will hold its first meet of the season against the team of the Boys’ Club of New York. The meet will take place in the Gym immediately before the annual spring commencement, and there will be plenty of time for the undergraduates to get to both contests. The Boys’ Club team is said to be the early part of the University team’s schedule for many years. The team for the first meet of the season will consist of twenty-two men, and after twenty-five young men will be returned, while this afternoon there will be trials at 3:30 in the Gym for all candidates for the University team. The results of yesterday’s meet will follow.

In the 115-pound class there were only two men, C. S. Page 1924 and R. H. Hamilton 1924. Page won in two minutes and five seconds by a half nelson and body hold. Hamilton was downed in 2:30 by L. A. C. Coe in four minutes and 25 seconds, by the same hold. Morgan threw Collins in two minutes and 30 seconds, using the same cover. Cover, who had drawn a bye, won in the class by throwing Morgan in two minutes and 12 seconds, using the half nelson again.

In the 133-pound class L. W. Morgan 1925 defeated R. A. Nichols 1921 in three minutes by a half nelson and body hold. Wharton 1920 lost to L. A. Coe in 24 minutes in four minutes and 25 seconds, by the same hold. Morgan then clothed Collins in two minutes and 30 seconds, using the same cover. Cover, who had drawn a bye, won in the class by throwing Morgan in two minutes and 12 seconds, using the half nelson again.

In the 192-pound class J. P. Fox 1922 and E. H. Webster 1921 wrestled 12 minutes before Webster gained the decision. W. L. Geosch 1922 gained a decision over Wharton 1920. F. H. McKnight 1922 wrestled with 25 minutes with W. B. Taylor 1923 who took the fall in a chance hold. In the second round A. B. Jackson 1922 threw McKnight 1922 in 2:30 and the score in that match was 1-1.

In the 145-pound class J. H. Wheel-}

MUSICAL CLUBS GET TRIP, SUPERVISION BOARD RULES
It has been announced by Manager Kester, of the Combined Musical Clubs, that there will undoubtedly be a Southern trip early in the new year. The tentative schedule which was approved by the Undergraduate Council last week, and recommended by the Supervision of Non-Athletic Activities provides for one extensive trip and one other trip to be made in the Spring. The Southern trip will be taken during the Easter holidays, according to present plans. The trip of the South will be taken on Thursday, April 17th in Washington, to be followed on successive evenings in White Sulphur Springs and Hot Springs. In addition to the Southern trip, there will be either a New York concert or an ex-}

Although as yet there has been no announcement to detail such as the athletic policy of Harvard, Yale, and Princeton, we do know that at all of the three universities there will be a strong college spirit and a fine athletic tradition. The Dean of every one of these schools has been quoted in their newspaper declaring the necessity of the four-year college programme.

Boxing.

In accordance with the present plan of the University to adopt a system of “mass athletics,” many new sports are to be recognized so that every undergraduate may take part in some form of athletic recreation. Boxing has not, however, been thus recognized, and no steps have been taken to place it on the status of a University sport.

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD FOR CAPTAIN BAKER

by men present represent J. P. Myers, to the memory of Captain Baker was associated before he went into the service. They were: George P. Johnsen, Otis Lott, J. B. Brown, H. W. A. Smith, S. Crail, Upper Street, J. H. Sandberg, R. Pedder, and J. P. Hoes.

After the service, President Hibben.

President Hibben who delivered the memorial address paid the tribute of a young blade ready Baker in the following words:

"The deep feeling of our to-day finds but poor expression in words, of our admiration and love for Hobart Baker. Our memory needs no amplifying by a virile and full story of his life. The whole panorama of his splendid career passes swiftly before us. He was a student in school, in the University, at the battles of France, the central and commanding figure, through the subtle charm of his personality; one who could tell a story and that unique skill due to the profound subordination of his richly endowed resources, an absence of an alert and resourceful mind. Even since he entered the University as a young freshman he has been in the pride of Princeton. We had hoped soon to welcome him home with his brown coat and brown shoes, and with a passion of grief that the great company of his friends has heard at last of that. The memory of this all alone, at me in the spirit of true, young of duty, of fair, of truth, the clearest.

"At the close of his university career he left behind him not only the reputation of a gallant, but the fair record of a conscientious and consistent devotion to the daily tasks of an average work. No interests of sport or play ever tempted him to neglect the immediate duty, which he was conscious to fail. His whole being was so instinct with life, joyous, free being, that he could not escape from the spirit of his mind with the idea of death, and yet his hour had come. It would seem an injustice, true form as he had lived, with a divine disregard of his own sensibility of the lives of others.

"I. E Department of Another.

"With the war over, his work done and his face turned homeward he nevertheless refused at the very last to leave behind him an unhallowed change, and with that scrubbed impulse of conscience, so characteristic of the habit of his life, he insisted on taking the last flight home within a few minutes before his contemplated departure from his comradeship, so inadequate. As long as I am Commissary of this squadron it is my duty to see that no one else risks his life after I have gone.

"And in the place of another. He had been like an angel. I have often thought that at the last he met his end with an exhalation of spirit, flying not to a place of rest, but flying over the idea of death was not unfamiliar to him. Day after day he had faced its coming in every flight we have had. As the battle front and deep into the lines of the enemy. For months he had been required to be so, should be turned in to E. C. Case, 190, P. G. Strong, 44 Holber, before to-day, and when it came he was scarcely not afraid."
