ELECTIONS.
At the time of going to press, the returns, as far as they can be had, indicate that the Anti-Trolley ticket has been elected by a majority of two hundred. The township election was carried by the Republicans.

MEETING OF THE MODERN LANGUAGE CLUB.
At a meeting of the Modern Language Club Monday evening, Professor Lewis spoke on "Physiological Phonetics." He began by giving a description of how the voice was produced. There are two parts of the voice, the sounode and the vocal cavity. The sound modifier consists of the nasal and oral cavities. In concluding, Prof. Lewis spoke of the application of the physiological to the historical and grammatical problems from the French, German and English showing how final voiced consonants with some exceptions tend to become voiceless.

CAMERA CLUB.
The meeting of the Camera Club held Monday evening in the room of the Engineering Society, was called to order by President Jones. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Prof. Libbey, who had kindly consented to be present, addressed the Club and offered for their consideration a constitution for the Camera Club, which was adopted. The constitution is as follows:

I. The name of the association shall be "The Camera Club of Princeton."

II. The object of the Club shall be the advancement of the science and art of photography, and the promotion of social intercourse among those interested in the subject.

III. There shall be but one class of membership, viz. active members.

IV. The officers shall consist of a president, a secretary and a treasurer.

The aim of the club is to be the acquisition and distribution of pictures taken by the members while in college and of periodicals and books on the subject of photography. The question of securing a suitable room was discussed, but action was deferred until the next meeting. There was a good attendance and considerable interest was manifested.

MEETING OF THE TRUSTEES OF EVELYN.
At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of Evelyn College held last Saturday, it was voted to enlarge the number of the Board. This was done in order to admit a number of representative women of the State. The Board which previously consisted of fifteen men, will now consist of fifteen men and fifteen women. At the meeting, the following ladies were elected trustees: Mrs. W. C. Shipman of New York, Mrs. W. S. Stryker and Mrs. Washington Roebling of Trenton, Mrs. Benjamin Williamson of Elizabeth, Mrs. A. D. Van Fleet of Flemington, Mrs. Potter Wilson of Philadelphia, Mrs. Fayette-Smith of Morristown, and Mrs. A. H. Van Meter. All these ladies are deeply interested in the institution as the only college for women in the state. A number of subscriptions have already been made for a guarantee fund for the use of the college. Mr. Harrison N. Blunt, who was head of the college after the illness last November, gave a very satisfactory report of the condition of the house and grounds before any repairs were made. Mr. Blunt had charge of the renovation under the direction of Col. Waring of New York. He assured the trustees that the instruction of certain modern improvements in plumbing and drainage was deemed wise, nothing in the sanitary condition of the house and grounds was liable to cause sickness or disease. The meeting was adjourned until Saturday, April 16th, when the new members of the board will be present.

MISSION LECTURE.
The first of a series of lectures to be delivered during the week, was given yesterday afternoon in the Sibert Chapel, by the Rev. Chalmers Martin. He took as his subject, "Apostolic and Modern Principles of Missions." The great command of Christ and the example of the Apostles are the standards by which we must judge of the principles of missions. In the discussion of the question "Are modern missions Apostolic?" the speaker, from a thorough review of the aims and motives of the Apostles, and especially of Paul whom he designated as "The Great Missionary," and of those of the later missionaries, of whom he said Gary was the first, drew the conclusion that modern missions were distinctly Apostolic. The motives of both were obedience to Christ's commands, love and zeal for his cause and compassion for lost souls.

INTER-HALL DEBATE.
The Inter-Hall debate to choose the representatives for the Yale Princeton debate was held last night in Old Chapel. There was a fair attendance and interest. Seymour, '95, presided, and after an appeal for a more hearty clapping of our final representatives, read the question and introduced the speakers who were as follows: Affirmative—W. F. Burns '95, Ill.; Whig; Alfred Hayes, '95, Pa.; Whig; F. W. Lewis, '95, Kan.; Clive; Negative—R. M. McElroy, '96, Ky.; Whig; B. L. Hitchfield, '95, O.; Clive; J. H. Crawford, '96, Pa.; Clive. The judges were Dr. Purves, Prof. Shaine and Hibben, and they chose as the representatives, R. M. McElroy, B. L. Hitchfield and W. F. Burns. McElroy was given the first rebuttal and Burns the last.

THE CLASSICAL CONFERENCE.
There has recently been held at Ann Arbor, under the direction of the Michigan "Schoolmaster's Club," a conference, the object of which was to bring together as many persons as possible engaged in the study of ancient classics: to create a closer bond of union between the universities and the schools and in particular to promote a more distinctly "professional spirit" among teachers of Latin and Greek.

A committee was appointed by the Conference to consider and report upon the question, "What should be the preparation of persons who propose to teach Latin and Greek?" Prof. West of Princeton was one of the committee and the following report was submitted:

Resolved, That this conference desires to express its sense of the importance of a thorough training for teachers in all grades of classical instruction. Especially does it urge adequate preparation for the work of secondary education.

The instructor should know much more than he is called upon to impart to his pupils. In the high schools the ideal teacher of the classics is one who has not only specialized in these branches as undergraduate and graduate, but who also by instinct and training possesses the enthusiasm to add constantly to past attainment by new study. Prof. West delivered an address on the question, "Shall we save a six-year high school and Latin course instead of a four-year course, and a three year course in Greek instead of a two-year course?"
The discussion and the resolutions to which it led were in part aimed against the programme of the so-called Committee on Teaching Latin by Pres. Eliot of Harvard is the chairman. The resolutions were finally passed unanimously. Prof. West was also appointed state vice-president for New Jersey.

The Press has been some misunderstanding between the students of the college and the operators at the telegraph office in regard to delivering telegrams when the persons to whom they are addressed are not in their rooms. The telegraph company desires us to say that this trouble will be obviated if those men who are likely to receive telegrams will leave with the operator a written order stating that they wish their telegrams left at their rooms when they themselves are not in.

In the development of the University and in all the additions to the curriculum there is one branch which appears to have been neglected, and mention of it seems all the more proper in view of the proposed changes to take place at the sesquicentennial celebration. We should have a department for instruction in music. The character of our musical clubs of late years shows conclusively that in the number of men who have inclination or ability in this line, we are at least on an equality with other great universities. There is, however, no way in which such men may receive skilled professional instruction either vocal or instrumental. At least an elementary knowledge of the history of music and its great masters as well as some familiarity with the works of standard composers — subjects which may certainly be considered part of the education of a broadly cultured man — should be within the grasp of men desiring them. Such a course would be in a measure self-supporting as an additional for could be charged those taking it, and from our knowledge of the student body, we feel sure that it would be greatly appreciated. We believe that no time should be wasted in establishing such a course, and we submit the proposition to the undergraduates for an expression of opinion.
