President Wilson ’97 Unable to Leave Official Duties—Cabinet Meets in South America

Of the many answers received by President Hibben to the invitations which were sent to distinguished men throughout the country to attend the dedication of the Graduate Building, the ones from President Wilson ’97 and ex-President Roosevelt and Taft are of particular interest. It is with gratification that we learn that Mr. Taft will come from New Haven to make this address on an occasion. Colonel Wilson will have left for

Washington on the 22d and on his South American trip, so he will not be able to be in Princeton on that date; neither will President Roosevelt. Mr. Taft gives his reasons for having to decline the following in the fall:

The White House June 29, 1913.

Washington.

"My Dear President Hibben:

"I appreciate very sincerely your kindness in canvassing to me be \ the dedication of the University. I am fully conscious of the place held in the heart of the Trustees and of the University.

"The matter of the invitation is the same that it had been the wish of my official duties, because I feel it is now impossible for me to structure to that important office. I hope it will be very convenient for your present arrangements to have my address ready. I am sincerely yours,

"Roosevelt"

SAMUEL WOODROW WILSON.

Points-Ass-Fla, Canada, August 20, 1913.

"My Dear President Hibben:

"I have your letter of August 19. I am feeling most grateful to come to Princeton and dedicate the dedication of the University.

"The only difficulty with me is the speech and I can say what I have to say without the least reluctance. My memory is so much, and I am so anxious to put myself in no shape as to fail me to a hope that you will be pleased to accept

Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

Office of Theodore Roosevelt.

June 29, 1913.

"Dear President Hibben:

"I thank you for your kind invitation of June 16. Unfortunately I shall not be able to be in Princeton at any time before October 22, so it is not possible for me to accept it. Through you I beg to thank the Board of Trustees. With thanks.

Very sincerely yours,

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Freshman Lit Competition

Following is the list of the men who last reported in the offices of the Nassau Literary Magazine that they were chosen for the competition:

Yale Keeps English Drive

The so-called English stroke will be continued by the Yale crew during the first part of the fall. Mr. Harriman, head coach last season, will again continue in that capacity, assisted by J. O. Rodgers, a former head coach. Harriman has returned to college to complete his course.

MUNICIPAL CLUB ELECTS TWENTY-SIX NEW MEMBERS

Enlarges Its Club’s Scope Planned for Present Year.

The activities of the Municipal Club were resumed yesterday at a meeting at which the election of members was the order of the day. Nine Seniors and two Juniors were elected, the remaining four upper-classmen were deferred until the charter of the or- ganization will be ratified by the University. No committee was named.

President P. C. McPherson, Jr., in discussion of plans, expressed the belief that the work of the club of late years had been done in the spirit of public service. The larger part of the work has been done for the benefit of the members, but it has been spread over the larger field. The more important work will be done by those members who are not in the club. In the past, the club has had many members who did not come to meetings regularly. It is hoped that in the future the club will be able to attract new members and to encourage the old members to come to meetings regularly. Delt in Cage and on Edges of Field—Secretary Barrett Bids To- gins To-Go.

A very heavy downpour which lasted up until four o’clock prevented the Princeton squad from engaging in a scrimmage and handicapped the work of the football team in a backfield into shape for the game with Fordham on Saturday. The field was covered with water, and the rails were not made. It was impossible, therefore, for any of the players to work out. Consequently, it was decided to make a few practices of a small scale. The weather may possibly clear up by Saturday, but it is impossible to say what will happen. If there is any hope of the field being dry Saturday, it is possible that the team will be able to make a little practice on the field then. The team will be able to make a little practice on the field then.

The flow of the schedule for the game with Fordham has been changed. The game will be played on Saturday, and the team will be able to make a little practice on the field then.

"Princeton continues to lend its invaluable aid to the promotion of true scholarship. Following the recent announcement that the new Graduate School is to open its doors only to the student of exceptional ability and promising promise of the statement by President Eliot that the University has decided to pay its tribute to brains in the highest degree of extent. What are known as honor courses are to be established and those men who have qualified by good ranking in their two years may elect graduate from course to course department in which to specialize, may reduce the number of their studies from five to four and, in many cases, will be able to complete their work before the close of senior year. The proposal, though not new, has much to commend it. It will go to the ambitious student the opportunity to do intensive work in congenial fields and will tend to put a check on the pernicious "levelling process" which is so common in our colleges and schools to-day. The bright boy is not allowed to go ahead but must content himself with doing the average work that has been designed for the lazy and dull. Under this system no man will be able to be Smullin's preceptor- man, and actually and individually are not fostered but cut out. If one man differs from everyone else there must be something the matter with him. If he has different interests there is something strange about him. The man of ordinary intelligence who can elect easy courses, glance through syllabi, do what every college student should do, and nothing that the regulation undergraduates do not, are usually the men who are wont of..."

The plans for a Princeton Stadium seem gradually becoming a certainty. The preliminary work is going forward as rapidly as possible, and it is hoped that long before the University at least an outline drawing of the ground will be available for a new stadium. A company was authorized by the Board of Trustees last week to consider and report on the whole stadium project. A general drawing of the lines of the places took place at the first meeting held in the spring, but activities have since been suspended to allow of the drawing up of a report on the financial feasibility of the scheme. The report will be compiled and submitted to the individual members of the committee in the latter part of this week. It is hoped that all of their deliberations will be communicated to the Board as soon as possible, and that the whole scheme will doubtless take definite action at the meeting on the 11th of October, which is the regular meeting date.

The commission is composed of twenty-one men, seven from the board of trustees, seven appointed by the Board of Athletics, and seven appointed by the Board of Directors. The committee is under the direction of Chairman Howard McDaniel, who is also chairman of the stadium committee.

VALLEY BASKETBALL TEAM COMES BACK INTO LEAGUE

Old Membership of Intercollegiate Association Restored—Promising Outlook

The Yale University Basketball Association, which has been inactive for the past year or more, is now back in the National Intercollegiate Basketball League. The team is said to be in good physical shape after a period of rest. The Valley is again one of the leading teams in the country, and there is no doubt that a strong team will result from the former Valley Athletic Club members and former Valley athletes who are now attending Yale University.

The team is under the direction of Coach J. H. Swarthout, who is also the head coach of the track and field team. He is said to be a strong and capable coach, and the team is expected to do well in the coming season.
