Cap, Cannon, Ivy and '01 Lead In Hockey Leagues

Bengal Malmeten Are Active Despite Post-War Difficulties

Cap and Green, Ivy and Cannon seem to be the teams to beat in the intercollegiate hockey league this year. Each is undefeated, Cannon and Ivy having played all 21 games.

The teams compete in the league, which was formed last year by captain Bob Cannon, who organized the league. Other members of the league are Yale, Penn, and Brown.

The league is divided into two divisions, the A and B divisions. The teams are assigned to the divisions based on their performance in the previous season.

The A division consists of the following teams: Yale, Penn, and Brown.

The B division consists of the following teams: Connecticut, Dartmouth, Harvard, and Princeton.

The league is governed by a board of directors, which is elected annually by the members of the league. The board of directors is responsible for the administration of the league and the enforcement of its rules.

The league is governed by a set of rules, which are enforced by the board of directors. The rules cover a wide range of topics, including player eligibility, conduct, and safety.

The league is open to all teams that meet the eligibility requirements.

The league is recognized by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) and is a member of the Eastern Intercollegiate Hockey League (EIHL).
